Our expertise

So, it's always a great idea to give your baby some extra care, because of the adverse environmental conditions. Your key to an ideal future is to choose safe, natural and nourishing ingredients that are healthy for both mom and the baby.

Our expertise lies in procuring products from leading brands through extensive market research and analysis to ensure proper nourishment of your child with utmost care and prudence. Our dedicated team of experts are trained to provide the best suitable products combined with reliability and authenticity. We are passionate about technology and innovation and are constantly on our journey to ensure a seamless and unified user experience for our customers.

How does Boxoniq work?

Today, the new generation of parents faces new challenges: more demanding jobs, less time available, increased prices, etc. Boxoniq is a one-stop-destination that allows you to create your own customised range of essential products on a monthly basis or subscription. The subscription allows users to receive the necessary products for each stage of the baby on a monthly basis so you no longer have to worry about your newborn.

How to subscribe to Boxoniq: Our registration process is quite simple and easy. FOLLOW these steps and you are one step closer to gaining long-term benefits for you and your baby.

Mission

Our mission is to help parents save time and money. Inspired by our friends, parents, we want more and more families to dedicate themselves to enjoying themselves. We trust that we provide a true experience, a personalized service designed with love. Regarding our value proposition, we offer premium quality products at excellent prices. At the same time, we offer promotions and discounts so that users can obtain benefits.

Vision

Boxoniq is built in the category that is considered unusual. We take pride in being India's first ever platform to introduce the concept of subscription based model that works in accordance to your baby's requirement and is extremely beneficial for the parents. Our platform will enable parents to leave their requirements to us and make their moments worth cherishing.

We envision building an ecosystem to become the key market player and cater to this ever-evolving competition. Competence, commitment and passion is what keeps us going and we are here to provide solutions that drive results.
